COKE OVEN GAS.

The Hamilton deputations that went to Indianapolis last week to inspect the coke oven plant and gather information as to the manufacture of gas have arrived home with the opinion that the location and operation of such a plant in Hamilton would be a good thing for the citizens. Were the Chicago financiers to establish such a concern here it would mean the initial expenditure of over two million dollars in erecting the plant. Its establishment here would also mean the bringing of many other industrial concerns here, which would mean the bringing of many other industrial concerns here, which would mean the bringing of many other industrial concerns here.

With this franchise out of the way, the company is willing to locate here, although offers have come from Toronto, and there was an intention to go to Oakville, as being midway between Hamilton and Toronto. But Mr. Byrnes, of the United Fuel & Gas Co., prevailed upon the company to consider Hamilton first. The coke oven company will not deal directly with the city. But it will agree to supply Mr. Byrnes' company with an unlimited supply of gas at a fixed price. Owing to the war and the uncertainty of the tariff, the company will not be able to quote a specific price for gas to Mr. Byrnes. But he will give the city a written guarantee that the company's charge will not exceed 65 cents per thousand feet, and it may be only 25c, although the company's present charge is 40c.

Should the Coke Oven Company not come here, Mr. Byrnes' company will, in the near future, to extend its artificial gas plant to make up for the shortage of natural gas, and by the terms of its agreement with the city it will be in a position to make the city a gas plant. Should the Coke Oven Company come here, the price of gas, as we have already said, will be anywhere between five and 60c per thousand feet, and the city will have the more gas used for the price for gas for domestic use, but it is the intention of the city to keep the low maximum price.

As the result of the establishment of the coke oven industry in Hamilton will be given, with an even pressure; instead of the price soaring to 90c per thousand feet for gas in future it will be 40c to 60c and it may be much cheaper; coke for heating purposes will be plentiful, and the establishment of the coke oven in Hamilton will bring many manufacturing industries to the city.

When the National Natural Gas Company's franchise is out of the way it will be the duty of the Board of Control and of the City Council to have the charter of the United Fuel & Gas Company amended to meet the requirements of the new deal. The city must endeavor to safeguard itself in every way. Some day, we hope not far in the future, we may expect to have our houses heated by electricity, and our cooking done by the same agency. In the meantime, we must look to gas for these purposes, and we have no hesitation in saying that the citizens are thankful to Mr. Byrnes for starting this great company to Hamilton.

THE EMPIRE AFTER THE WAR.

While the main objective of the British people is to win the war, and early consideration of the present war, subsidiary considerations are the commerce and trade of the component parts of the Empire after the war, and the political relations of the various peoples belonging to the Empire. We are told that the Empire can never be the same. Some say that the Dominion beyond the seas will be a world of free people who will be drawn into a world war on behalf of Britain; others say that the Empire will be a world of free people who will be drawn into a world war on behalf of Britain; others say that the Empire will be a world of free people who will be drawn into a world war on behalf of Britain.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, is credited with the statement that he is looking for the telephone transmission of sight before the war. The achievement is not impossible. We can hear the voice of the person on the other end of the line, and we can see the person on the other end of the line. We can hear the voice of the person on the other end of the line, and we can see the person on the other end of the line. We can hear the voice of the person on the other end of the line, and we can see the person on the other end of the line.

The British constitution is an unwritten law. In the matter of trade the diversity of interests would present difficulties in the formation of a tariff. There could be no single tariff for the Empire. At best we could only have preferential arrangements. When we come to the Government of the Empire, there is much to be taken into consideration. The question of representation is a matter that would require much thought. A Parliament that would embrace all the Dominions would be unwieldy.

It is destined to govern all matters of state, and were membership in the present Imperial Parliament open to all the Dominions, it would be a matter of state, and were membership in the present Imperial Parliament open to all the Dominions, it would be a matter of state, and were membership in the present Imperial Parliament open to all the Dominions, it would be a matter of state.

Another proposition is that there should be held conferences at stated times between representatives of Britain and of the outlying portions of the Empire, when Empire-wide questions should be considered and discussed. But this could not be done by the Dominions which, in any, say, as to peace and war. In fact, the present British Parliament has no jurisdiction over the Dominions which, in any, say, as to peace and war. In fact, the present British Parliament has no jurisdiction over the Dominions which, in any, say, as to peace and war.

The Ontario prohibition bill, we understand, will be considerably amended before it is presented to the House, possibly on Thursday next. It is expected that the committee will have some legislation to encourage municipalities to provide hotel accommodations. The matter has been considered more than once in connection with local option. Legislation will probably be given municipalities to establish municipal hotels or give assistance to hotelkeepers who are ready to remain in business after the bars go.

The Mexican campaign was not many days old when the U. S. newspapers found cause for criticism of the conduct of the war. Mackenzie's campaign to grief. There is talk of atmospheric conditions their engines could not withstand; they were sent up without observers or mechanics; and those who carried their flights, instead of completing their service as scouts have been ordered to search for those which could not keep the air. All of which should lead newspapers to be more patient with the war in Europe.

There must have been a awful lot of hungry Tories clamoring for jobs when the present Government came into power. Postoffice statistics show that on the 1st of July, 1899, when the Conservative Government came into power, the number of permanent and temporary employees in the postoffices of Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Victoria, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke, St. John and Halifax, was 22,500. On the 1st of October, 1911, when the Borden Government came into power, the total number was 2,208. On February 1st of this year, after a little over four years of Conservative administration, the number of employees was 2,640. Making the comparison from the figures, it will be seen that in fifteen years of Laurier rule the total increase in the number of employees was 1,385. In a little more than four years of the present Administration the increase in the number on the pay list has been no less than 1,432, or 47 more than in the fifteen years of Liberal rule.

Music AND Drama

While Margaret Maude owes much to her natural ability, her natural ability was only the foundation for hard work and painstaking study; otherwise she would not have attained to a role of the importance of Charlotte in Edward Knobloch's new comedy, "Pagliacci," which will be seen in the support of George Arliss at the Grand Theatre tonight and Wednesday, March 27 and 28.

THE SUSSUX WAS CRASHED TORPEDOED

Testimony of Survivors Leaves Little Doubt as to Cause of Tragedy.

102 STILL MISSING

Was Crime Intended to Bring the United States Into War?

London, March 27.—Although there is still some uncertainty as to the loss of life in the disaster to the cross-Channel steamer Sussux last Friday, there is no longer any doubt that the death toll is much larger than the early advices indicated. The latest figures compiled in London show as many as 102 persons missing, including five Americans.

The Sussux had 426 souls aboard, of whom the following have been accounted for: Landed at Dover, 72; landed at Boulogne, 200; dead at Boulogne, 3; dead at Dover, 3. This is the total accounted for.

The casualties occurred in two ways, first, in the explosion when the ship was struck, and second, by drowning, when a number of the crew and passengers were killed.

The explosion killed or wounded several men in the engine room and occupants of the saloon directly above it. Injury to the wireless apparatus prevented calls for help reaching the steamer in the vicinity and it was several hours before assistance reached the sinking boat.

The Sussux now lies in shallow water in Boulogne harbor. She will not be a total loss. Most of the men are above the water-line and the main shock of the explosion was spent in blowing off the forepart of the ship.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT.

The text of the communication reads: "The British steamer Sussux, which carried about 380 passengers, was torpedoed in the Channel on the 24th by an enemy submarine."

"The captain observed a torpedo about 100 yards from the ship, and immediately endeavored to avoid it, but the vessel was struck in the forward part, which was destroyed."

"The vessel, however, remained afloat. The fall of the mast destroyed part of the antennae of the wireless, and the vessel was unable to be rescued. The vessel was towed to Boulogne by a tugboat, and the survivors were landed there."

"The British torpedoed the Sussux, which had arrived at the scene of the disaster at the same time as the Marie Therese."

"The Sussux was towed to Boulogne by a tugboat from that port, and is now there."

"Unhappily the explosion and the beginning of a panic among the passengers resulted in the loss of the exact number at this hour is not known, but it is estimated to be about 100."

MANY VICTIMS WOMEN.

Many of the victims are believed to have been women and children. It was reported that a woman was seen in the water, and that a child was seen in the water.

There were also reports of a woman being seen in the water, and of a child being seen in the water.

SURVIVED MALOJA DISASTER

Lee and Dick, sons of Lieut. and Mrs. Hill, who were on the P. & O. liner Maloja when it was sunk off Dover, these bright lads were enroute to Gibraltar with their mother, and the only injury suffered by any of the trio was a lacerated finger hand.

picked up pieces of steel from the decks and are forwarding them to the Admiralty for use in its investigation to determine whether the Sussux was torpedoed or struck by a mine.

Reports received in London to-night stated that "a very high English personage," whose name could not be divulged at the present time, was aboard the Sussux and that he took command of one of the lifeboats and went to the rescue of an Italian woman when the explosion occurred, had jumped overboard.

In this connection it is noted that Premier Asquith, Lord Kitchener and other members of the Cabinet were expected to go to Paris in the latter part of the present week or early next week to attend the Allied War Council and the suggestion is made here that one of these may have been the "high personage" mentioned.

WAS UNMISTAKABLY TORPEDOED.

The first train carrying passengers was reached Paris on Saturday. There were several Americans among them, who went to the American Embassy and made demands. Several of the Americans said they distinctly saw the furrow of an incoming torpedo for some 200 yards before it reached the cross-channel.

American passengers on the Sussux said that a number were killed aboard the vessel, and that several were thrown into the water and drowned before rescue was possible.

The American Embassy informed the correspondent to-day that according to the Embassy's information, the Sussux was torpedoed and the attack was made somewhere between mid-channel and the French coast.

The torpedo, according to the Embassy's information, struck the vessel in the bows and caused a formidable explosion. The water-tight compartments, however, held and she was towed to Boulogne, arriving there at 10 o'clock last night.

STORY OF A SURVIVOR.

Surviving his third shipwreck, and crippled and nearly dead, a Spaniard-American war, in which his ship was shattered and he lost a leg, Edward Marshall, a New York newspaper correspondent and author, found time after arriving at Victoria, British Columbia, to write a story of his experiences.

He was with other survivors, to stop and comfort the father of Wilder G. Penfield, the British boy, who is in hospital suffering, according to reports, from a fractured skull.

His son's affliction. After speaking to Mr. Penfield, Mr. Marshall wrote the following article:

"Germany may be destined to array itself against her when she returns to the English Channel, yet she is carrying something like twenty-five Americans."

It is impossible at this time to state certainly the exact number of those who are dead. It is known, however, that two are lying dead and that two are lying dead.

There is no doubt in my mind that the vessel was torpedoed. I was on the bridge when the explosion occurred, and I saw the ship go down.

Eye-Witness Tells of Fierce Bombardment of Front Held by Canadians.

LIEUT. HOOPER AGAIN

Hamilton Boy Once More Doing Good Work—Many Daring Adventures.

Ottawa, March 26.—The following official communication has been received from Sir Max Aitken, Canadian general representative in France:

Canadian General Headquarters in France, March 26.—Between 1 o'clock and 6 on the afternoon of March 16 the enemy threw over twelve hundred shells into the sector of the defenses held by our first infantry brigade.

About three-quarters of the shells were high explosives, mostly of large calibre, and the remainder shrapnel. The intensity of the fire varied considerably, but at times reached four shells per minute. The reason for this bombardment was not apparent, and remarkably little damage resulted.

Three times during the afternoon our artillery retaliated. The first retaliation resulted in drawing an increase of fire from the German artillery. Subsequently combined shots by our field batteries and heavy howitzers were organized and proved effective in silencing the enemy's fire.

Two of the enemy's shells fell short and burst in our trenches. During the bombardment Sergeant Hanson, of the 2nd Eastern Ontario battalion, shot a German officer who was engaged in observing the effect of the hostile artillery from a support trench.

On the afternoon of March 18th the German artillery again became very active on our front, once more concentrating its efforts on the area of our first infantry brigade. More than six hundred shells fell in this section.

A few of the enemy shells again fell short and burst in his own trenches. ENEMY DUGOUTS DESTROYED.

On appearance of British aeroplanes over our line the fire from the hostile batteries rapidly dwindled. Our own artillery and trench mortars combined in a heavy retaliation. Our fire was direct principally against the enemy front and communication trenches and against a strong point in the German line.

The enemy's trenches were breached and his trenches were wrecked in several places, quantities of woodwork and timber being hurled high into the air. Numerous direct hits were secured on the strong points in the German line, and a concrete machine gun emplacement in the vicinity was completely demolished.

Several enemy dugouts were destroyed and at one point our observers reported seeing a man rolled in his blanket blown up with his dugout.

After the bombardment the fire of our rifle battalions and snipers was directed on the German parapets and the enemy was seen to suffer severely in casualties. Throughout the night machine gun and rifle grenades were maintained on these points, effectively harassing the enemy's repairing parties.

On March 19 the German artillery bombarded the area of the 5th Infantry brigade. A large number of high explosive shells pitched near our front lines, but did not cause any serious damage. Prompt retaliation by our artillery again rendered the enemy's repairing parties ineffective.

During the period March 15-22 hostile aircraft frequently appeared over our lines, but did not cause any serious damage. On occasions smoke-balls were thrown down over various points in our line.

During the bombardment on March 16 the German line was observed by the German line observing the fire of our guns. Several times the fire of our anti-aircraft guns was directed on the German planes to retire, and our aviators were active in reconnaissance.

Fine Turnout for Service On Sunday Morning.

to St. James' Anglican Church on Sunday morning, where Divine service was held. Rev. Canon R. W. G. Jones, in his sermon, gave a resume of the crisis that Great Britain had passed through, and then touched on the changes that were bound to be made in political, economic and social life. He particularly referred to the sphere of the woman, and how this would affect the church. It was his belief that she was now undertaking a new understanding. It was his belief that a new impetus would be given to the Sabbath worship, and that the church would be regarded in a clearer and better light. He concluded with a prayer for the church and William Ross sang "The Holy City."

At the close of the service his lordship Bishop Clark held conference with the members of the church.
